

iOS C&R Guidelines phone app. FAQ

❖ Where can I purchase the ACM C & R Guidelines app?

Go to the App Store on your iPhone and search for ACM C&R Guidelines.

This is what our phone icon will look like for the C&R Guidelines app.

❖ What do the 3 icons at the bottom of my screen allow me to access?

'Info' is where you will be able to read about the scope of The Guidelines, core assumptions on which they are based, guiding principles of midwifery care, and important definitions. Information about how to contact us is also available here.

The '3 Steps' section will take you to comprehensive information about the 3 levels of consultation and referral addressed by The Guidelines: discuss, consult, and refer.

'Indication' is where you will be able to search for indications. Numbering is consistent with the hardcopy and online versions of the app. So that you can refer to indications easily should you need to.

When the icon is highlighted it indicates you are in that section of the app.

❖ How do I search the 'Indications' section?

- 1) Go to your 'Indications' tab (click on  at the bottom of your screen)
- 2) To start a search, make sure you select the pregnancy stage you would like to search (you may need to go back using the phone's back button to reach the indications' start screen as shown below) :

Select the pregnancy stage that you would like to search by clicking on it.

You may need to scroll down to see and select the 'Postpartum Period' section.

- 3) Then click in the search area of your screen – text grey informs you about the indications' category or pregnancy stage you are about to search.

- ⇒ Search results will come up that correspond to the indications' category or pregnancy stage you selected initially.
- ⇒ A BLANK screen means that your search was unsuccessful.

❖ When I click on 'Indications' I see the results from my previous search. How do I get back to the initial screen showing the 4 stages of pregnancy to start a new search?

❖ There is writing in the 'search engine' already, why is that?

When you click on the search engine of your app, there is already grey writing in, which indicates the category of indications or pregnancy stage you are going to search. Simply click on that area to enable typing of your search key words.

❖ I have noticed an error in the indications or other content of the app, who should I contact?
